

Public Involvement

Process

Between summer and winter 2006, five community coffees (small, public open houses) were held for Grandview, Lee's Summit, and Kansas City area residents, property owners, and stakeholders. Community concerns are outlined below.

Community Coffees

Public Input

Access

A frontage road would be better than right-in/right-outs. Will the median be crossable and will the water tower be accessible?

Utility Burial

Will utilities be buried as part of the project?

Water Runoff & Flow

Water runoff is a concern for the Raintree Lake and Windemere neighborhoods.

Budget

What's included in the $30 million project budget?

Noise & Congestion

Improving Route 150 will result in increased traffic and congestion. Some residents believe that sound walls should be considered.

Property Acquisition

Some residents want to be bought out. Others want acquisitions to occur on one side of the corridor.

Median Treatment

Residents are supportive of improving the median with "other landscaping" beyond concrete, trees, and grass.

Walkability

Residents have said that they are in favor of improving walkability, especially in the Kansas City portion of the corridor.
